Where Children's Creativity Comes Alive

Children turn their own paper drawings into characters, interactive worlds, and stories — directly in the browser.

For children aged 3–10

Creativity Starts With the Child — But Often Stops at the Page

Physical creativity

Children draw, color, and imagine. But when the page is finished, the experience usually ends.

CREATE → FINISHED → STOP

Digital entertainment

Engaging, but children often watch, swipe, and consume someone else's content.

WATCH → SWIPE → WATCH

WHAT WE HAVE TESTED

30 children · 1 real-world TPA pilot · D.I. Yogyakarta

Sheets colored by children in the pilot

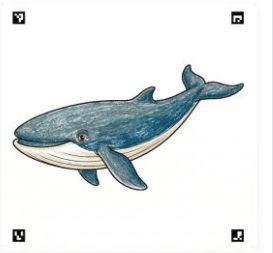

What if the child's own creation became the starting point of the digital experience?

First real-world pilot · TPA, D.I. Yogyakarta

One Core Engine. Many Interactive Worlds.

New content reuses the same scanning, personalization, and interactive-world pipeline.

1 Computer-Vision Scan

Printed markers guide perspective correction, cropping, and object extraction.

2 Personalized Output

The child's extracted artwork, not a stock character, enters the world.

3 Code-Linked Physical Content

Each printed sheet links to its template and digital experience.

4 Reusable World Engine

Animals · vehicles · nature · culture · characters · stories.

REUSABLE ENGINE

From a Magic Moment to Repeatable Value

The magic gets attention. The next question is whether children want to create again — and whether parents will pay for that repeat value.

GATE

Built only after repeat usage is proven

The core Scanvas experience remains unchanged: the child creates first, and their own artwork comes alive.

A Business Model We Can Test and Scale

Pre-revenue today. Each path has a validation gate before we scale it.

RESPONSIBLE CHILD DATA

Collect only what is necessary. No child name, parent identity, email, phone, precise location, or artwork itself as analytics payload by default.

VALIDATION PRINCIPLE

Build → Measure → Gate → Expand

Do not build the full course before a 3-lesson pilot validates progression and willingness to pay. Do not build large Mission/Story/AI layers before repeat usage is proven.
